

---

Citation:

Paul, L (2015) Catalytic Commons. UNSPECIFIED.

Link to Leeds Beckett Repository record:

<https://eprints.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/id/eprint/5396/>

Document Version:

Other (Published Version)

---

The aim of the Leeds Beckett Repository is to provide open access to our research, as required by funder policies and permitted by publishers and copyright law.

The Leeds Beckett repository holds a wide range of publications, each of which has been checked for copyright and the relevant embargo period has been applied by the Research Services team.

We operate on a standard take-down policy. If you are the author or publisher of an output and you would like it removed from the repository, please contact us and we will investigate on a case-by-case basis.

Each thesis in the repository has been cleared where necessary by the author for third party copyright. If you would like a thesis to be removed from the repository or believe there is an issue with copyright, please contact us on openaccess@leedsbeckett.ac.uk and we will investigate on a case-by-case basis.

Catalytic Commoning

Co-curated by Sarah Mills and Doreen Bernath

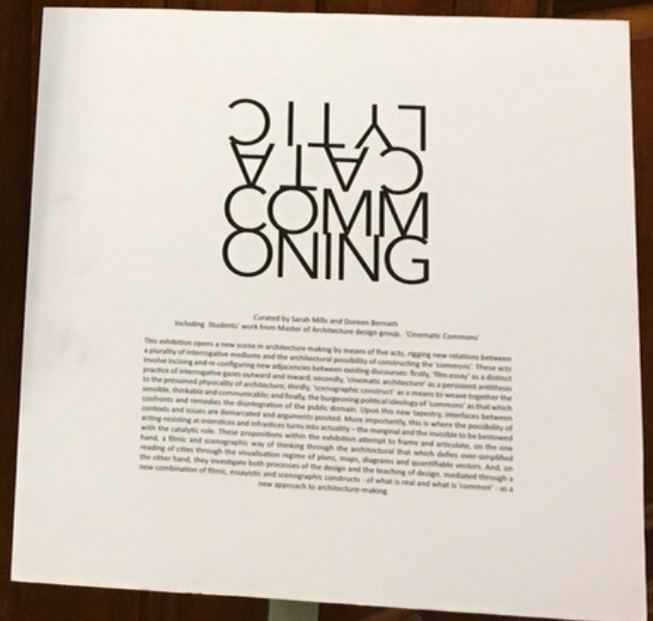

12.11.2015 – 21.11.2015 | Launch event on Thursday 12.11.15

This exhibition explores relationships between film, architecture and the city.

About

The installations weave together film, scenographics, architectural interventions and issues of public space. Investigating the processes of design and the teaching of design, the exhibition questions what is real and what is 'common' as a new approach to architecture-making.

The Images on pages 7 - 10 were produced in response to the Catalytic Commoning exhibition, in collaboration with Dr Lewis Paul, Leeds Beckett University. The exhibition questions what is real and what is 'common' as a new approach to architecture making.

An associated publication also features our collaborative contributions & commentary, SCENE PP.39 - 44.

CATALYTIC COMMONING

Co-curated by Sarah Mills and Doreen Bernath, including work by Masters of Architecture Studio, Cinematic Commons.

An associated publication also features contributions and commentaries from Dr Lewis Paul of The Northern Film School, Suha Bekki of Suha Bekki Design, Rohan Shivkumar, Director of Kamla Raheja Institute for Architecture and Environmental Studies and Atsuhide Ito of Southampton University and Central Saint Martins UAL, who will be speaking on the opening night.

P.5. Image of the associated publication which also features contributions and commentaries from the participants, who also presented their work and ideas on the opening night.

SCENE

The five images are part of our collaborative creative work and forms a collaborative response to Catalytic Commoning. These images are made using a 'mirror lens projector' process, something David Hockey re-ignited interest in. We use it to help unravelling the complex relationships between film, painting, optics and modernism.

Lewis Paul
Sarah Taylor

39

